

when i look at it closely i realize that there never was a lost spirit...

there is only the one that we want to lose because we think it is better that way.

what does society think of itself
when it throws out what it thinks is its garbage and washes the street.

a more honest discussion.
wf.h.
2019