

the shortest distance between two points is a bottle of wine.
although the actual distance depends on whether you are with others or drinking alone.

archimedes after hours.
wf.h.
2018