

chasing god
even though he said that was not true he wanted an explanation for two dead mothers who used their own hands and his father who continued to listen to classical music while making investments in his private office with flowers in a vase on his imported desk and his sister with long hair who left home to start the career of a surrendered body.

i was there
when he shared his woman as if it were not complicated with someone else on a fixed schedule. i believe he did not want desperate love but only wanted half the blame if his father reappeared.

even though he said.
