

how much space does collapse require it could be as much as what is collapsing
and where it collapses.
who can argue with incomplete facts while screaming sanctuary or holding on to a last whimper. i wake up each morning dusting the sacred or the absence of the sacred of those with these convictions off my trousers
which are not rolled up believing
collapse is not hopelessness it is giving space back to become the new sea.

how much space.
