

existence is in the not nothingness...

but the consciousness of not
not nothingness
is the something
attached to the skeletal frame of awareness.

there are some who believe in everything.

there are some who believe in specifics.

there are some who believe it does not matter.

there are some who believe it should not belong to you.

coupled

uncoupled

the stars move in a great armada

untroubled by singularity

untroubled by duality

navigating as they lose their light in darkness.

whether it is possible to think as an individual responsibility whether it is possible to sit still and move in placelessness cannot be resolved as a resolution...

why stay in an argument with life and miss the passage and image of the home port

if you never return.
