

greater clarity
awareness less distinct.
not what i expected while i was expecting more.
things with existence are existence unseparated then never separated again once they are.
does the breath of everything end or does it become quiet when nothing around it is everything else.
        waiting for a response
            the ocean stares back.

not what i expected.
