he saw i was reading the iliad

and said the only way to read it was in the original greek...

he expected the women to notice.

of course i knew the original greeks were dead
had been for a long time.

homerich greek is

ionic greek

aeolic greek

arcadocypriot greek

and attic greek.

it has always been a translation since the beginning centuries after the event.

i thought i had him

and would be the one to make the women flutter.

but they admired the view

from the window

in his tower

looking at a man on a park bench.

i might as well have died in troy.

reading the iliad.
