

the important thing is not whether our journey if long enough will return us back to where it began in some theoretical exposition or illuminated manuscript but whether it will be a delicate reemergence or a collision with a runaway train.

the reentry.
wf.h.
2018