

the rainbow does not collapse... it disappears in its own solitary meditation of our illusions of light.
we are tethered animals in the soundless boat of imagination.
with ancestors manning the oars.
the prison of an outcast is not being inside.

the soundless boat.
wf.h.
2018