

i have been told that it is not in orbital decay... i agree.

i am also told that

the living soul

is precious and sublime

a delicate flower

fragile

ethereal

vulnerable

and a gift from god.

well i think

i keep hearing it ask how much damn farther it has to go.

it is probably more like a sweaty rough sailor when you think about what the soul has to go through to go somewhere else.

the spiritual journey.
