

i am listening to them with their accumulated histories of this or that on the way to meaning.

many things can be said about aging but there is a singular truth that cannot be argued... in each successive winter the toilet seat becomes colder.

their accumulated histories.

wf.h.

2018