

where do you store your ulterior motives
when you are not using them.
i tried to hide mine
where no one
could find them
or stumble upon them accidentally.
i mapped out several quick
change locations
in case anyone was
getting too close
but moving ulterior motives around
is not easy.
they are not completely tame
and do not always want to cooperate.
where would they feel at home
when they were
not being used
probably not a meditation center.
then i realized
i should hide them in plain sight
changing their names
changing their place of origin disguising them as artifacts potential tool usage
in the history museum
with an information card beside them display to open soon
donated by a patron of the humanities.

when you are not using them.
wf.h.
2026